LETTER FROM THE BOARD CCPAA-ON Joe Li

Dear CCPAA-ON Community,

As I think back to year and reflect upon all that has transpired, I think the past year has been a year of continual change and adaptation for many of us. As communities and social events return in person, I am proud of the stride that our community and volunteers continue to make. There is much to look forward to in the coming year and I cannot wait to have the opportunity to share some of those moments to come with the community.

Professional and Personal Growth

I am so delighted to have the support of a remarkable Board, a fierce President and dedicated volunteers. We are thankful to have received support from industry-leading organizations, such as KPMG, EY, Grant Thornton, CIBC, KVB Kunlun, Cidel Asset Management, and WealthOne for insights shared at our professional development events. We are also delighted for the continual support provided by CPA Ontario in our career coaching program to assist international students and foreign-trained CPAs, which have made tangible impact in the community as we continue to adapt. Special thank you to Maggie Liu and Mavis Mu, two departing board members who have contributed so much to the CCPAA-ON communities in the many roles they have held. Both Maggie and Mavis are instrumental in shaping CCPAA-ON into the organization that we all know and love today.

Stay Tuned

Over the coming year, while we will continue to bring industry leading professionals to share their insights and perspectives, we will thrive to provide the community more opportunities for meaningful in-person interactions. I look forward to meeting more of you at our events!

Yours very truly, Joe Li

In an inflationary environment, unevenly rising prices inevitably reduce the purchasing power of some consumers, and this erosion of real income is the single biggest cost of inflation. The negative effects of inflation are easy to see. The loss of real income – for those on fixed incomes is particularly pronounced. Moreover, because people need to hold some wealth in money for transactions and unforeseen expenditures, inflation ultimately acts to diminish this portion of wealth until wages increase. Cidel In-Person Event

Extreme Market Volatilities

In this in-person event, the speaker shared with us her observations and thoughts on what is happening with the economy, and what it means for the future. The economy has been through seemingly never-ending uncertainty since the pandemic began over two years ago. Just a few days ago, the S&P 500 was reported to have had the worst half-year since 1970, more than 50 years ago. This is just the latest in all of the movement since COVID-19 was declared a pandemic. When things seemingly stabilized with the introduction of the vaccines, new variants of the coronavirus cropped up, introducing more uncertainty into the market. As tired as we all may be of the phrase, it certainly feels like we are in unprecedented times.

Digital Transformation

Adapting to Grow in Today's Virtual Workplace

2021 Annual Conference Recap

Change is the only constant in life. CCPAA-ON adopted this philosophy and didn't miss a chance to evolve its way to serve its audience and members. Year 2021 was one like no other, year two of the pandemic not only brought more challenges to the world, but also established a new norm for people's living style. As many were still wondering when's the time to return to office, companies are adopting changes to make business on cloud.

Thanks to the fast evolution of technology such as 5G, business can move from analog to digital. Given so many limitations under the pandemic, digitalization and cloud-based business are no longer an option for companies. In every perspective, the pandemic indeed accelerated this inevitable movement and forced the trend to stay. As many traditional businesses do, finance and accounting industries are also wondering how they can adapt their business and processes to make the most of technology investments.

Embracing this opportunity, CCPAA-ON successfully held the 13th Annual Conference virtually this year, and invited professionals from industries such as technology, finance, accounting, etc., to discuss how the digitalization of work would affect the financial professions. A wide range of topics in the theme of "Digital Transformation" were covered.

Technology has changed the way businesses operate and collaborate. To continue to stay relevant, businesses require a new set of strategic frameworks to evolve and adapt to an online-centric environment. CCCPA-ON and more took this chance to share their view and experience in adopting the new normal during the annual conference.

Thank you to all of our speakers, we cannot achieve our objective of helping members without you!
